

ABSTRACT

A system and method for categorizing (i.e., grading) securities based on a combination of the market performance of the security and the commercial, business performance of the issuer of that stock.